County Traffic Accidents Killed 5, Cost $18,626,000 In One Year

Crawford County paid dearly for traffic accidents in 1988, with five people losing their lives on local highways. Furthermore, $18,626,000 was the phenomenal price paid as the result of crashes in the county, according to a report published recently by a University of Michigan study.

In that same year, 1704 people died on Michigan highways as a result of auto accidents, almost half of them alcohol-related. Another 22,560 people suffered serious injuries. Traffic crashes cost Michigan citizens more than $7 billion in property damage, medical care and quality of life.

According to Fredrick M. Streff, scientist at the U-M Transportation Research Institute, "traffic crashes are not only numerous but exceptionally costly because they involve such high levels of fatality and injury."

Of the $7.1 billion spent in crash-associated costs, less than $1 billion was spent on property damage. The remainder reflected medical and mental health costs, ambulance and police services, emergency services, administrative costs, productivity loss and the loss of quality of life (pain and suffering).

The study, sponsored by the Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning, examined crash rates and costs for all 83 Michigan counties, using data from the Department of State Police.

Of neighboring counties, Roscommon showed the highest rate, with 12 fatalities and total costs of $33,680,000 in 1988. Kalkaska had six fatalities and costs of $18,625,000. Oscoda showed a loss of eight lives and costs of $19,571,000. Otsego sustained four fatalities and costs of $16,702,000.

Wayne County had the highest percent of crash incidents and costs, with almost 24 percent of the state's crashes and 20 percent of the state's total costs attributed to that county.

Streff says that the data "strongly supports changing the safety belt law to allow primary enforcement." Presently it is only a secondary law, meaning that police officers cannot stop drivers solely on the basis of non-use of seat belts. "The cost of enforcing a primary law would be considerably less than the $7 billion lost on crashes a year," he continues.

He also supports the implementation of sobriety check lanes as an effective deterrent to drunk driving. He explains, "When people say that sobriety check lanes are an intrusion on their privacy, they should be reminded that when they go to an airport they can routinely expect metal detector searches and a search of their bags. Problems associated with airline passengers have never come close to those associated with drunk drivers."

Streff says that he hopes the data will be used by city, county and state legislators to make policy decisions regarding allocation of resources to prevent future crashes.

Blanchard Signs Bill At MUCC Convention

By Irene Pettyjohn

Governor James Blanchard made an unscheduled stop at the Grayling Holiday Inn on Friday, June 22, to address more than 400 delegates attending the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) annual convention.

Following his speech, the governor signed into law House Bill 443, which enhances the retirement benefits of the state's 243 conservation officers. More than 50 C.O.'s filed into the convention hall to witness the signing.

Governor Blanchard commended the state's conservation officers for "a job well done." He said C.O.'s are empowered to enforce all state criminal laws, working closely with the Michigan State Police. The governor said it is not uncommon for C.O.'s to put their lives in danger and that several have been killed in the line of duty. H.B. 443 was created to bring conservation officers' retirement more in line with that of State Police officers.

During the governor's speech he called Michigan "the most beautiful of all states" and told MUCC members "we have a lot to protect."

He said he has always placed a high priority on the protection of the Great Lakes, citing his support for the ban on oil drilling the Great Lakes as an example.

He stressed the importance of sound environmental protection of all Michigan's natural resources and called for the legislature to come up with a more effective version of House Bill 375 than the "watered down version" recently defeated.

"We have to have a tough law to make polluters pay rather than sticking taxpayers with the bill," he said. It is not enough to continue cleaning up contamination sites, but Michigan has to stop pollution before it becomes a reality, he said.

H.B. 375 was written, originally, to force polluters to pay up-front clean-up costs and send a strong message to industries and other polluters that they will pay for their misuse of the environment.

Governor Blanchard said Michigan must be the leader in environmental education and that education must begin in the schools.

He credited MUCC for having strong conservation ethics. The group is the largest nonprofit state conservation and outdoor recreation organization in America. It is dedicated to the promotion of environmental and natural resource conservation, protection, and enhancement through education.

In closing, Blanchard did a little politicking, telling the gathering that when he took office seven years ago, Michigan's economy was so bad the Houston Chronicle was being sold on Detroit street corners for its "help wanted" ads.

"People were saying 'Will the last person leaving the state please turn out the lights,'" he said. "To hell with them," he stated. "The lights are on and the torch burns brightly."

AuSable Marathon Race Purse Hits $30,000

Top canoe racing teams from Michigan and throughout North America will compete in the 1990 Budweiser AuSable River Canoe Marathon from Grayling to Oscoda July 28-29. Racers will compete for a portion of the largest canoe racing purse in the North America — over $30,000 in cash and prizes, including $5,000 for the first place team.

The race will begin Saturday at dusk in Grayling with a spine-tingling LeMans-style running to the river. Racers will paddle the first eight hours of the Marathon, the most twisting part of the course, during the night. In the dark paddlers must contend with "sweepers", cedar trees which sweep out chest-high over the river. They paddle at a rate of 60-90 strokes per minute, portage over six hydroelectric dams and steer clear of the river's natural obstacles attempting to successfully complete the 120 mile non-stop course. Paddlers finish the race in 14 1/2 to 18 1/2 hours, arriving in Oscoda on Sunday afternoon. During the course of the race teams receive no outside help, except food and water from "bank runners" or "feeders", who meet them in the river or at dam portages to provide the paddlers their only sustenance.

"The Marathon," as it is known locally, is recognized as one of the granddaddies of canoe racing. Up to forty amateur and expert teams are anticipated to compete in the 43rd AuSable River Marathon, sponsored by Budweiser. Weyerhaeuser and Grayling State Bank are Associate Sponsors of the event.

Racing equipment has changed dramatically since the early races which were paddled in wooden and metal double-end canoes weighing approximately one-hundred pounds. Today high-tech Kevlar racing canoes weighing under 30 pounds and graphite paddles weighing as little as eight ounces are the norm.

Perhaps the most dramatic Marathon occurred in 1979,

Claude and Serge Corbin, two brothers from Quebec, Canada, edged out Michigan natives John Baker and Ken Brown at the finish line by just six seconds. The two teams were never more than 20 seconds apart during the entire race. Serge returned in 1987 and teamed with Brett Stockton, of Grayling, to take first place in both 1987 and 1988. The pair set a course record of fourteen hours, twenty minutes in 1988 breaking by twenty seconds the record previously held by Brett's uncle, Butch Stockton, together with Solomon Carriere of Cumberland House, Saskatchewan.

The race is a spectator favorite, beginning with the LeMans-style running start to the river in Grayling and continuing throughout the night as the spectators hopscotch to vantage points along the course at bridges, dams, and access points to catch a glimpse of the teams as they go by.

The fans become an active part of the race, urging on the teams and providing encouragement as the paddlers test and go beyond their normal endurance limits. River obstacles, the darkness, inclement weather, and the sheer torture of fifteen to eighteen hours of non-stop paddling all play on the contestants physical and mental capabilities.

The Budweiser AuSable River Marathon is held in conjunction with Grayling's AuSable Milltown Festival, which runs from Thursday, July 26 through Sunday, July 29.

Milltown Schedule Full of Events

The excitement of the AuSable Milltown Festival and $30,000 Budweiser AuSable River Canoe Marathon is only four weeks away, so plan now to attend the many special events planned. Here's a summary of some of the traditional events associated with Milltown.

Heritage Day is on Thursday, July 26. This day focuses on costumes from the early 1900s and old-time entertainment. The Coffee Break and Costume Stroll will be held at 10 a.m. at Grayling State Bank.

The 16th annual Fine Art and Country Crafts Show will be held at the Grayling City Park Friday, July 27, and Saturday, July 28, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Over 80 artists and craftsmen from all over Michigan will be displaying their items in a juried show in the City Park. All items are of high quality and offer much diversity for the discriminating buyer.

The 9th annual Ice House Quilt Show, sponsored by The Icehouse Quilt Shop, will be held from Thursday, July 26, through Sunday, July 29. This fine display of new and antique quilts will be shown at the Grayling Holiday Inn this year.

The 11th annual Milltown 10K Run and Fun Run/Walk, sponsored by Mercy Hospital/Grayling, will be held at 9 a.m. on Saturday, July 28, at Grayling Middle School. Early registrants for the 10K Run will receive a t-shirt. Early entry fee is $8.00. Trophies and medals are awarded for each age category. The 1-mile Fun Run/Walk is free to those interested, held at 8:30 a.m. prior to the 10K race. For more information contact Mary Jo Conway at 348-5461, ext. 368.

The Milltown Parade, sponsored by the Grayling Promotional Association, has grown to be one of the most enjoyable highlights of the festival. Entertainment will be featured in downtown Grayling prior EROSION PROBLEM--This long standing erosion problem on the Upper Manistee River needed much work so that the bank could be held in place.

EROSION SOLUTION--Members of Company B, 125th Infantry from Saginaw, Michigan National Guard volunteered to solve this erosion problem on the Upper Manistee River.

National Guard Volunteers Solve Erosion Problem

By Don Geiss

A major erosion problem along the Manistee River has been corrected thanks to a volunteer group of Michigan National Guard personnel.

Fifteen members of Company B, 125th Infantry out of Saginaw tackled the open sand bank south of M-72. With major assistance from Don Cragg and his bulldozer, the men lined the bank and sides of the streambed with 25 tons of rock.

Sgt. Terry Richardson, a member of the company who owns a nearby cabin asked for volunteers during one of the outfit's regular drill days with the OK from their Company Commander, Capt. Edward Berg. He emphasized that the men came strictly on their own without any financial reimbursement from the guard. They spent the night before the work began at his cabin and went to work the next day with the intention of using hand tools to move the rock.

Fortunately the erosion problem had been one needing care in the plans of the Upper Manistee River Association (UMRA). Al Willman, UMRA treasurer, realized the monumental task of attempting to move all of the rock by hand. He contacted Cragg who lives next to the work area. Cragg, president of the local Veterans' of Foreign Wars (VFW) Chapter and owner of the Chapparel Ranch, had the heavy equipment to assist in moving the six foot high pile of rocks.

The pile of stones was trucked to the area and furnished by the Department of Natural Resources. According to Cragg, it is the first time in his 50 years of residence that anyone has attempted to do anything about the problem. He said the 40 foot high bank of sand was continually being eaten away. The sand washed downstream and was filling some excellent trout holes, he noted.

Richardson said that a number of men brought their families for a day in the outdoors. He hopes to have an environmental outing every year to work on some task along the river.

Meanwhile in one way or another, the Upper Manistee River Association's members intend to handle streambank erosion control problems in other areas using all available work sources. According to UMRA President Ben Butts, at least three more major erosion projects will be corrected this summer.

Butts said that an access area at Crawford County 612 will be fenced and hopefully five sand traps will be dug in the river bed.

Civil War Band Returning To Milltown Festival Parade

The Milltown Festival Parade Committee has been busy working all year with a line-up of entries that promises to thrill all on Saturday, July 28, at 3 p.m.

Joseph Stripe is Grand Marshall of this year's parade which features float entries from various businesses in Grayling, along with a variety of professional groups, including 19 shriners entries this year. One of the most interesting entries is the 5th Michigan Regiment Band, bringing with it American history and tradition. A re-creation of the 1861 Band of the 5th Michigan Volunteer Infantry, this band brings American Civil War history to thousands of spectators each year.

For 108 years, from 1863 to 1973, the 5th Michigan was just a memory, and then as a Bicentennial project it was re-created in the form of the 5th Michigan Regiment Band. In keeping with the authenticity of Civil War Regimental Bands, the present band consists of 30 people, including musicians, national colors, and support.

The band plays music of the Civil War era performed on replica Civil War over-the-shoulder 1860 Sax-Horns especially made for the band.

The band's musical repertoire includes popular marches, polkas, schottishes, and waltzes that were played around the 1860s for parades, military balls, and musters on both sides of the Mason-Dixon line.

Recycling Corner

By Carol Wakeley

Recycling is really coming along good in my home and I hope in other homes too. There are still some things that have to be thrown away because they just cannot be recycled in any way, but with conscientious shopping I am cutting down on the amount of these products I buy. All recycling reduces air and water pollution, so do as much as you can.

Household waste (food scraps and yard waste), accounts for 25% of each home's garbage. This is all biodegradable and can be turned into compost except for meat and bones. In our area, having the woods behind us helps us to get rid of any leftovers that will not be eaten. Raccoons, opossums, and stray cats love any meat, fish, and veggies. The birds and squirrels clean up breads and egg shells along with their regular diet of seed. Peelings and coffee grounds go into a pile of leaves for fertilizer. Even if you live in the city, you can still have a compost pile.

In addition to having newspapers recycled, you can also bag up junk mail (except glossy paper), envelopes, office or computer paper, and stationery. You can put them in the bin with newspapers, but keep them in a paper bag so they are not scattered. Every ton of paper recycled saves 17 trees, 7000 gallons of water, and enough energy to heat the average home for six months. The only problem with recycling paper is that there has to be a constant demand for it otherwise it will end up in our landfills. Everyone can help by buying paper products made from recycled paper. Be aware that much of the wood pulp used to produce paper originates in the rain forests that are vanishing. So buy recycled!

Not all plastic items can be recycled. I noticed flower pots, laundry baskets, and other such things in the bin at the refuse center. These are not high density plastic and therefore cannot be accepted. Please don't dump just anything in these bins for the sake of getting rid of it. You are just making extra labor and extra waste. Next week I hope to have a list printed in the paper of the products that come in recyclable containers and those that do not. If we are going to recycle, we have to do it right. Take the time to make sure your things are clean and acceptable. If unsure, call Milltown Refuse. If we don't take the time, then we are just throwing it all away.

State Program Can Help Seniors Pay Prescriptions

Senior Residents of Crawford County

Every day we keep hearing of more and more cuts in federal and state dollars for human services programs. Here, in Crawford County, there is a state program where dollars are waiting to be spent and if they are not spent they will be reallocated to another county.

I'm talking about the Michigan Emergency Pharmaceutical Program for seniors. The MEPPS Program was designed to help seniors with their drug prescriptions on a short term basis. Vouchers can be issued to eligible individuals which can be taken to a participating pharmacy (locally, Mac's and Clark's) and be redeemed for prescriptions. Eligible persons can receive vouchers twice in a year. You must be 65 or older, receive no more than $785 if single or $1052 married per month, have prescription costs of at least 10% of income and have unfilled new prescriptions or authorized refills for medicine.

The Commission on Aging staff will assist with all forms and there is no charge for the service.

We know there are many seniors with high drug costs who would benefit from this program and yet, we are having trouble using our supply of vouchers.

If you or someone you know might qualify, please, give us a call, at 348-7123. Don't lose out on an opportunity to make use of your tax dollars.

The Commission on Aging provides coordinated community care to all residents of Crawford County. We're here to serve your needs. Give us a call.

Reader Says Column On High Cost Of Education Is Off Base

To the Editor:

Joe Murphy's column in last week's Avalanche regarding the high cost of education was way off base. He said "Do we really want to save a few dollars in taxes and prevent our school's production of high quality graduates..." First of all, some of us find it increasingly difficult to pay those "few dollars in taxes." Our property taxes went up 47.7% from 1989 to 1990. We are not talking a "few dollars" here.

Also, it is sheer nonsense to suppose that more spending equals more quality. Teachers are earning more and more each year, while the student's ability to master the basic skills has not kept pace, and in many districts is actually declining. I went to a grade school in Dearborn that had, for a while, makeshift canvas partitions for the class rooms. There were 30 to 35 students in every class. Yet when we went to Dearborn High School, our English instructor commented on the high academic excellence of the grade school we attended, as evidenced by the quality of the graduates in his class. Talk about our feeling "confident of our ability to compete!" We all felt pride in our school and in our teachers.

In Sunday's Grayling ADZ paper, school Supt. Kent Reynolds is quoted as saying that "should the board move toward another election (on the Bond and millage issue) the campaign will be... more focused at parents of preschool and school age children." Then he stated, according to ADZ, that "There are more than enough votes (in that population) to pass regardless of the other population." He is obviously referring to older voters, who have no children in school, mostly retirees. Is he also hoping that if the vote is held in December that many will be out of town, and will miss the election? If another vote is held on this issue, I hope all voters get out and vote, and that those who will be out of town visiting relatives, etc., will obtain absentee ballots, so that their voices can be heard.

THE AVALANCHE YOUR HOMETOWN NEWSPAPER

Almanac

By Richard Millman

'Freshman' may be a lame duck

ON THE CAMPUSES of our nation's colleges and universities, big thinkers tackle big problems. That's what supposed to happen.

A case in point is at the University of Michigan, where school officials are wrestling with a whopper of a problem — the name applied to the first year class.

That's right. "Freshman" is being questioned as proper terminology because it is not gender-neutral. Women at the university must undergo the stigma of being known as "freshmen" during their first year at school.

So school officials are looking for some other word to use. The faculty/staff newspaper asked for suggestions. "Freshmore" was the most frequent substitute mentioned in early voting.

Walter Harrison, executive director of university relations, said the university would consider changing the term if an acceptable replacement is found.

THE HUBBUB IN Ann Arbor echoes the flap out in California where one city commission tried to find a substitute for the term "manhole covers." Sexist, some elements told the city fathers/mothers, who wrestled several months with seeking a replacement, but finally gave up the effort. Wasn't worth the trouble, the city finally decided.

And so it should be in Ann Arbor, too. Certainly there are plenty of other problems to occupy the minds and talents of the folks at University of Michigan.

Besides, who says "freshman" is a sexist term, anyway? Simply because the three letters "m-a-n" appear in a word does not make it sexist — freshman or manhole, either, for that matter.

It's a generic term, and has been accepted as such for generations.

The word means what it means, and the juxtaposition of three letters does not make it gender-offensive, in my book.

SUNBELT JOBS — A recent headline was a real grabber. "One in six future jobs will be in California," the headline proclaimed.

The federal Commerce Department was reporting that the country is projected to gain 18.9 million new jobs between now and the year 2000... and of those, 3.4 million, or about one in six, will be in California.

At the same time, California is expected to add another 17.1 percent in population growth — up to 33.2 million people.

Other big growth areas for jobs will be Florida and Texas, projected to have increases of more than one million jobs each, up to eight million in Florida, and 9.7 million in Texas. Nevada and Arizona also will see huge proportional job gains, but their bases still remain relatively small.

Time was when Michigan was among the leaders in job growth, but no more — at least alongside the sun belt. Job creation — and establishing a climate in which jobs can be created — should become priority items in Michigan.

Maybe that's a subject the talented minds at our universities could take on — once they settle on what to call their first-year students, of course.

LET'S BAN BETS — If I were running things in this country, one of the first steps I would take would be to ban those silly bets by politicians on athletic contests.

Examples are everywhere. The national basketball championship series between the Detroit Pistons and Portland Trail Blazers predictably produced a couple.

Michigan Sens. Carl Levin and Don Riegler had to get something going with Oregon Sens. Mark Hatfield and Bob Packwood. Mr. Levin bet a Michigan-made breakfast against Mr. Hatfield's chinook salmon. Mr. Riegler bet a Pistons jacket against Mr. Packwood's salmon. If Mr. Packwood lost — which he did — he agreed to wear the Pistons jacket for a day in the Senate.

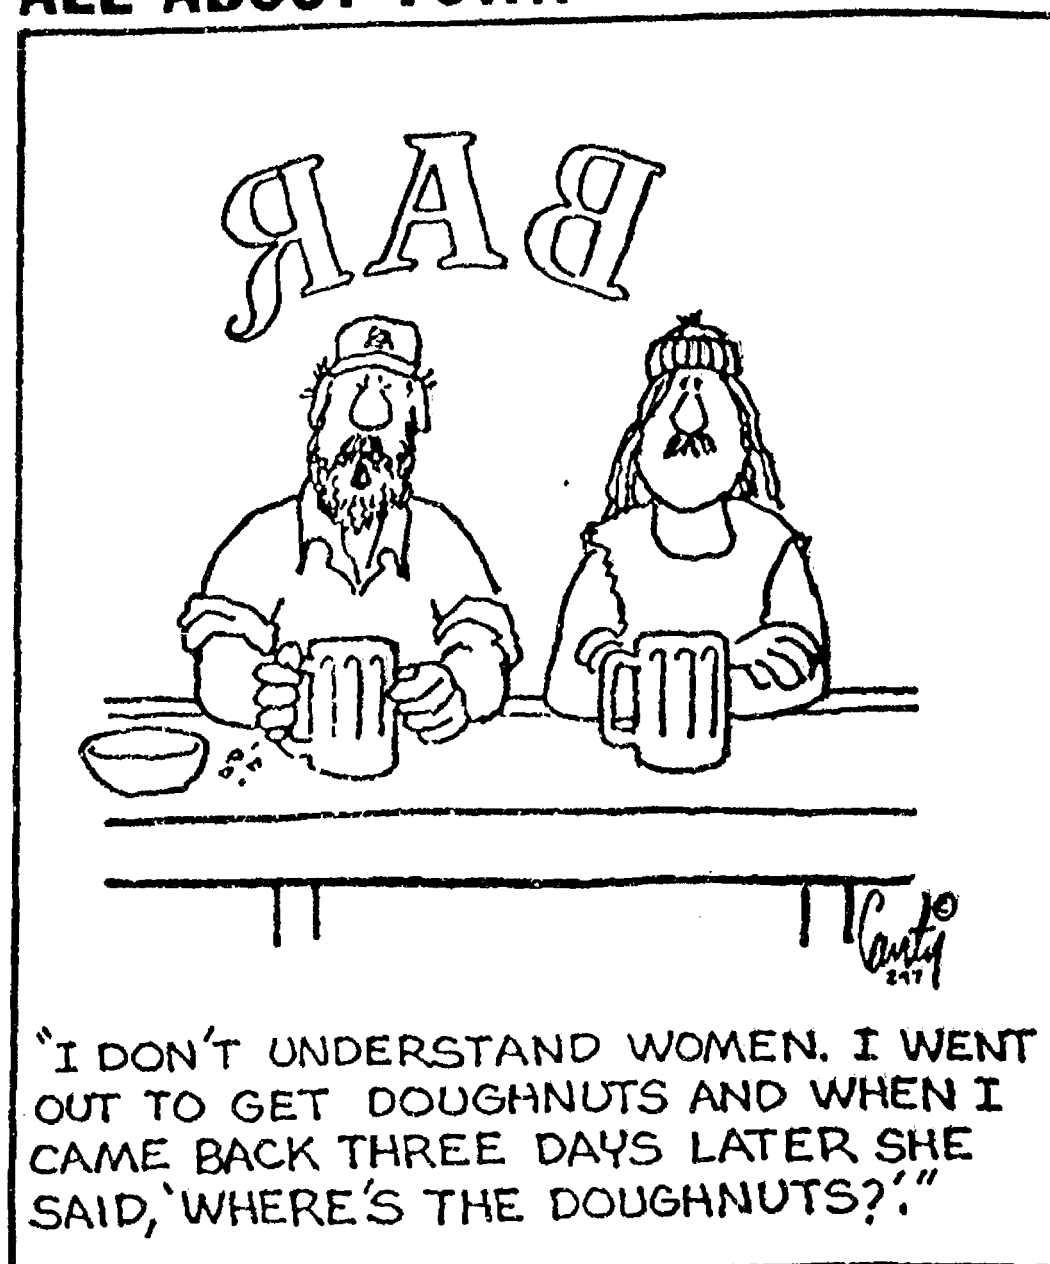

Similar bets are all over. The Michigan - Ohio State football game regularly produces some. So do football bowl contests. Interscholastic rivalries within the state also usually get some going.

I suppose, in a way, it's simply harmless fun for the politicians; but if I were in charge of things around here, I'd still put a ban on them.

If all the media outlets felt the same way, they could accomplish a ban. The only purpose of the bets is publicity, and without publicity, the bets would stop.

I'll bet it won't happen, though.

ALL ABOUT TOWN

ALL ABOUT TOWN

Let's Talk About It

By Joe Murphy

If you have any doubts about the hard days the old time lumberjacks put in, go to the Crawford County Museum and take a look at the pictures on display there. All those logs were cut using only two tools, a cross cut saw and an axe. When the lumberjack found a good partner to work with they stuck together year after year. It took good teamwork on their part to do their job.

Notching a tree so it would fall where they wanted it was an art. Being able to read a tree's lean and spotting the heavy side were needed to prevent the tree from settling back and pinching the saw. Driving in wedges would release the saw but it was all extra work which they tried to avoid. So at least one of the partners being skilled in reading the trees was important. One or both being skilled in axe use in order to do the notching right was another key to their partnership.

Most important was being able to work together on a cross cut saw. The cross cut saw caused a lot of fights right out in the woods. A good partner on the other end of the saw was great; a poor one was hell. The cross cut is designed to cut on both strokes. The man pulling the saw on each stroke was doing the cutting. If your partner put excessive pressure on the saw he could make you do most of the work. As they called it, "Riding The Saw" caused many battles to take place.

The size of the cuts they had to make made teamwork on the saw a must. Some jacks became very skilled at lifting the saw a little on their stroke and pressing down on the other man's stroke. If all the sawdust was on one side of the log it was often "Katy, Bar The Door!"

Strange as it may seem, it was the little man that had the advantage in the old days. The big man couldn't win and the little man couldn't lose. If a big man and a little man fought, the big man winning was nothing. If the little man should win, he was a hero. If the little man got beat, some big man would take up for him and another battle was on. There was no stigma in losing a fight, but backing away from one was a life-long disgrace. Those lumberjack battles had no rules. Kicking, biting, gouging, and stomping a downed man were just part of the game. Getting your face stomped in by caked boots would not be my idea of fun.

I am very proud to be the recipient of the National Guard Association of Michigan MEDIA AWARD for 1990. I want to thank that great organization for the honor they have bestowed on me.

ENGAGEMENT - Rev. and Mrs. Dwight Knasel, of Williamston, Michigan, would like to announce the engagement of their daughter, Rebecca L. Knasel to Dr. Arthur P. Kerle, son of Arthur and Helen Kerle of Grayling. The wedding is planned on June 30th at 3 p.m. at the Kalamazoo Free Methodist Church with Reverend Dwight Knasel, Reverend William Fraser, and Reverend Michael Hambly officiating. The bride will be given away by Reverend Dwight Knasel. Music will be by Greg Sanders.

VFW Auxiliary Elects Officers

The VFW Post 3736 Auxiliary of Grayling elected new officers to start their new duties in July. They are as follows: President, Lou Ann Crosby; Sr. Vice, Jeanne Putman; Jr. Vice, Gladys Reed; Treasurer, Alice Cragg; Secretary, Marie Scott; Chaplain, Betty Lepper; Historian, Dorris Dannels; Guard, Juanita Beck; Conductress, Edith Vickery; and Trustees are Lillian King, Joyce Cousins, and Violet Kehr.

The Post Auxiliary held flag ceremonies at the Grayling, Frederic, and Pere Cheney cemeteries on Memorial Day in honor of our war heroes.

There was a good turn out at the Auxiliary fashion show at Aunt Betty's Restaurant and the garage sale went over well. Quite a few buddy poppies were bought.

The Post does not believe in the burning of the American Flag. It stands as a symbol of freedom that many good people fought and died for. To burn it means they died in vain. As a sign of their belief they are taking red, white, and blue rug yarn and braiding into a braid about twelve inches long and tying it to the antennas of their cars. Anyone wishing to join in the idea is more than welcome.

Barbara Selesky will be their guest speaker at the next meeting.

THANK YOU

Thanks to our many friends and relatives for the cards, calls, memorials and gifts during Bob's illness, death and memorial service. Thanks to Reverend Dr. Paulson for his comforting words at our time of need. Nancy Hoffman, who beautifully provided the organ music, American Legion Post 106, and the National Guard for a fine tribute. Thanks to the American Legion Auxiliary for their special work and the lovely luncheon, and Sorenson Funeral Home for their kindness.

Bob would have been proud as is his family. We are happy he is at peace. Edwina LaChappelle, and family

'Swim to Freedom' Author Was Impelled to Escape

Yuri Vetokhin has a Soviet anecdote that goes something like this: One Russian man asks another, "How will we know when Communism will come about and we are finally living in the 'Workers' Paradise?" "It's already here; you're living in it," replies the second man sardonically.

That Vetokhin, author of the book "Inclined to Escape," can even joke about life in the Soviet Union, is quite amazing. Fed up with the Communist regime, he tried to escape twice, was sent to a political prison for nine years, and finally succeeded in escaping the "Workers' Paradise" in 1979.

Vetokhin was in Grayling last Monday to deliver his talk, "Swim to Freedom," at the Kiwanis Club's first Grayling Service Club Round-Up Luncheon. He spoke to a group of 60 representatives from area service organizations and the Traverse City Kiwanis Club.

He compared the human soul to a glass and Communism to water. It takes a long time to "make a soul full," just as it takes a long time to fill a glass with drops of water. But when the soul has had enough, a person can no longer bear to live under the totalitarian government.

That's what happened with Vetokhin. He explains that in 1963, even though he loved his fatherland greatly, he was "forced to decide to escape." Having trained for years as a long-distance swimmer, he attempted an all-night swim in the Black Sea to Turkey, but was apprehended by authorities.

He tried again in 1967, swimming at night with a mask and snorkel, and carrying a small, inflatable boat. The following morning, while eating his breakfast in the boat, he was discovered by a Soviet naval ship and turned over to the KGB.

A one-year investigation followed. Vetokhin says that the KGB operates under the doctrine that the U.S.S.R. is a paradise: If someone tries to escape, he must be mad, as no sane person would want to escape from paradise.

Thus Vetokhin was declared insane and sent to a series of brutal psychiatric prisons to be re-educated, through the use of various drugs and forms of torture.

In 1976, after a harrowing ordeal described in his book, Vetokhin was released. Denied his former job as a computer engineer in Leningrad, he worked at loading and unloading trucks.

And at night, he resumed his training in pools. By 1979, he felt his health and swimming abilities were sufficiently restored to attempt a third escape.

He plotted to buy a ticket for a cruise to the South Pacific, which would cost 480 rubles. His laborer salary only earned him 60 rubles a month, so he augmented his income by gathering wild mushrooms and selling them at farmers' markets.

Once on the cruise, he jumped from his cabin port-hole and swam 30 miles through shark-infested waters to Bacan Island in Indonesia.

He was rescued by several young men, who took him to a policeman's home in Jakarta. There he began writing his memoirs and decided on the title, "Inclined to Escape." Those words had been stamped on his file at the Kherison Psychiatric Prison. And, as Vetokhin told one reporter, he was not only "inclined to escape," but born, destined and impelled to escape—or to die trying."

Vetokhin was granted asylum in the United States in 1980, where he completed and published his book. He became an American citizen three years ago, and today makes his home in San Diego, CA. He supports himself completely through sales of "Inclined to Escape" and his other writings.

"Inclined to Escape," by Yuri Vetokhin, can be purchased from the author at P.O. Box 16084, San Diego, CA, 92116. The cost is $21.95 (postage paid).

161 Children At Camp AuSable

There are 161 campers at Camp AuSable this week, 12 and 13 years of age. On Sunday they came by car. Many of the children are brought by their parents while others come with friends or relatives.

Registration is conducted on Sunday beginning at 10 a.m. First they check in at the business office and pay the amount due for one week of camping. The boys' director, Phil Westerman, then assigns the boys to one of nine counselors and Darci Worley, the girls' director, assigns the girls to one of ten counselors. Now they are ready to take their gear to a cabin which is home for the week.

The nurse, Becky Nelson, checks each camper carefully to be sure they are physically fit. In that most of them enjoy swimming, the next step is a swimming test in the lake by the lifeguards to determine their ability to swim. Here they receive one of three bands to wear on the left wrist. Blue is for good swimmers, yellow for some ability, and red for non-swimmers. These indicate what area they may use of the roped-off section for swimming. Lifeguards are on duty during all swimming periods.

The last step is in the Craft building where they choose and sign up for classes in nature, crafts such as leather, ceramics, and basketry, or outdoor activity that includes archery, canoeing, horses, swimming, sailing, skiing, and 4-wheelers.

Each camper has a full day beginning with reveille at 7:30 a.m. to taps at 10 p.m.

Basketweaving Becomes Special Gift That Is Passed On Among Friends

Sixteen years ago Catherine (Cathy) Hickey learned how to make baskets from Grace Kabel in Highland, Michigan. At the time, Grace told Cathy that she had given her a special gift that would last through her golden years. Years later, Cathy took a few minutes and discussed her gift and the many forms it has taken with Avalanche reporter Irene Pettyjohn.

Basketweaving has meant much more to Cathy Hickey than just a hobby that has given her immense pleasure and satisfaction. Over the years it has been both therapeutic and financially lucrative, but even more important to Cathy are the friendships she has gained.

During the years she was mothering four active children, Cathy found her craft to be relaxing, taking her away from household chores and skinned knees to a quiet place where she could fuss over each basket with the individual attention she gave each of her children. During the family's financially lean periods, teaching her skills to others and selling her baskets, contributed to the family budget.

"But the people I've met are more important to me than the ability to make a basket or the money I've earned," she said. "I've met two of my dearest friends because of my interest in making baskets," she said. "People who make baskets are usually down-to-earth and unpretentious," she explained. "I like those types of people."

Cathy began making baskets in the fall of 1974, under the direction of Grace Kabel.

"We had moved to Michigan from California and I found myself living in the country," she said. "Classes were being offered at a little shop in Milford so I went." She began making baskets for her own pleasure, giving some to friends and family as gifts.

"Grace was my mentor and now she is a treasured friend," said Cathy. "I feel privileged to have learned from her."

Grace's interest in basketmaking began after she had raised seven children, while she was taking a class in chair caning. During a lull, her instructor asked her if she would like to make a basket.

"She was so turned on by making that one little basket," said Cathy, "but that was all her instructor knew about basket making, so Grace went to libraries to learn more. She wanted to keep the craft going so it wouldn't die. From there she just went crazy," she said.

Cathy credits Grace Kabel with starting the basket weaving interest in Michigan. She studied under her for four years before moving to Grayling in 1978.

Cathy began teaching her craft to others through the encouragement of Carl Hatfield, who offered his dining room table and said he would supply six students for her first class.

"I like to share everything I know about basket making with anyone who is interested," she said. "Teaching has been a wonderful way to meet people in the community."

And meet people she has. For eleven years, Cathy held basketweaving classes in her home, sometimes as many as eight classes a week during the spring and fall, averaging 100 students a year.

Cathy's favorite baskets are Appalachian and Indian baskets that are strong and functional.

"I don't like the frilly stuff," she said. "I want to be able to use them."

In addition to her classes, in 1983, Cathy began exhibiting her baskets in the spring and fall at folk art festivals in St. Charles, Illinois, a suburb of Chicago. She sells about 150 baskets a year. She is also a participant in the Roscommon Arts Festival.

Cathy's gratitude to Grace for "starting the whole thing" led her to throw a "Let's Meet Grace" party at the Grayling Holiday Inn in October of 1981. She invited her students from Grayling, friends from downstate, and, of course, Grace Kabel. Eighty people attended.

"Everyone had such a good time," said Cathy, "that a woman from downstate said 'let's do it again' and the group met the following year in Plymouth. This time 200 people came."

The group has continued to meet every year and each year the attendance has grown.

They returned to the Grayling Holiday Inn in 1983, and voted to organize and became the Association of Michigan Basketmakers. Today the association has 1,245 members.

"In 1991 they will be holding their convention at Shanty Creek on October 17-20," she said. "It's heartwarming to be in the presence of so many kindred spirits."

Cathy currently serves on the association's board of directors and is its third vice-president in charge of convention site selection.

Today, Cathy has cut back to teaching only one class each year during the fall and said she spends many hours sitting in the middle of her living room floor enjoying her basketmaking.

"I take pride in each one," she said. "It makes me feel good to look at each one I finish."

"Grace told me she was giving me a gift," remembered Cathy. "Not only the gift of knowing how to make a basket, but also the gift of the friends I would make."

Cathy said the gift has involved much much more. "So many lives have been woven together because of this gift," she said.

"Grace said the gift was especially for my golden years, and I think I may be entering that phase of my life," laughed Cathy. "The house is quiet all the time now. There are no more baseball games. The kids are all out flapping their little wings, and it's nice being alone with Bob again," she said softly.

Area residents will have an opportunity to see Cathy's baskets next month, Saturday, July 7, from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. at the Roscommon Arts Festival, which will once again be held on the banks of the beautiful AuSable River.

Local Sierra Club Plans June Outing

The AuSable Valley Group of the Sierra Club is sponsoring a public outing to the Negwegon State Park. The event will kick off at Bullock's Paul Bunyan Kampground on Saturday, June 30, beginning at 11:00 a.m., with a brief slide show about the park. The Paul Bunyan campground is located approximately 14 miles north of Harrisville on U.S. 23, near Spruce, Michigan.

Following the slide show, a tour will be given of the little known and underdeveloped Negwegon State Park. The park is located about ten miles north of Harrisville on the east side of U.S. 23. It consists of over seven miles of pristine Lake Huron shoreline, wetlands, rock outcroppings, trees, wildlife and, as yet, unexplainable "stone piles and formations," possibly evidence of early Norsemen or Native American activities.

The public is invited. Plan on hiking about three miles over easy to moderate terrain. The tour should conclude around 2:00 p.m. Everyone is invited to swim, play volleyball, and cook out (B.Y.O. everything) on the beautiful beach of Negwegon after the tour.

The AuSable Valley Group of the Sierra Club meets every other month on the fourth Wednesday. On the alternate month, when a regular meeting is not held, the group sponsors an outing or educational program which is open to the public. The next regularly scheduled meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, July 25, at the Country Kitchen Restaurant in Rose City. The chapter represents Crawford, Oscoda, Alcona, Roscommon, Ogemaw, Iosco, Gladwin, and Arenac counties.

For more information, call the AuSable Valley Group of the Sierra Club at (517) 739-3396 or 739-8832.

Changes in Ocean Color Help Chart Global Danger

Every spring, vast areas of the ocean come alive in what is the largest annual biological event on the planet. The change is so profound that blue water turns green.

Oceanographers know it as the "spring maximum," or "spring bloom." Just as land-based plants bud and blossom as warm spring weather begins, the worldwide bloom of phytoplankton—microscopic plant life that inhabits the sea—advances through the water.

Now scientists say that changes in ocean color caused by this phenomenon, observed by satellite, may one day provide warnings of a dangerous rise in global temperatures due to the greenhouse effect.

Keeping Healthy

Allergist's Advice

Cats around the country are going to find themselves in a rather this allergy season if pet owners heed the advice of a doctor at Washington University in St. Louis. James Wedner, M.D., has found that when cats are bathed once a month, their production of Fel D1, the major allergen in cats, markedly decreases. While this finding is likely to cause some cat-wauling among the feline population, it will spell relief for the millions of pet owners who are allergic to their cats but can't bear to part with them. In fact, Wedner says a monthly sudsing is far more effective—and much less expensive—than the drugs and shots upon which most cat-sensitive patients currently rely.

ABWA Names Boss, Woman Of The Year

Noreen Davis, Vice President of Patient Care and Operations at Mercy Hospital North, was presented with the Boss of the Year Award by the Grayling Chapter of the American Business Women's Association at their 50's and 60's Dinner Dance May 15th at Chief Shoppenagons. Noreen was nominated for this award by Sister Adrian Davis.

This meeting was open to the public and attendance was good. The Bondarz provided the entertainment; there were several dance contests and a costume stroll.

Annually, A.B.W.A. chapters elect one of their members as "Woman Of The Year"

based on the member's achievements in business, education, community activities, and participation in the Association. President Betty Mansfield announced Darlene Fenn as "1990 Woman Of The Year."

Darlene was presented with a certificate from National Headquarters during the June 19th meeting.

Annmarie Coffron, Miss Grayling, told about her experiences at the Miss Michigan pageant. A decision on A.B.W.A. continued sponsorship of the Miss Grayling pageant will be made at a later time.

Sheila Palmer, Hotel waitress, was presented with a gift certificate from "Ivy Girl" for the good service she has rendered to A.B.W.A.

Predator Hogs

Wild hogs are increasing in numbers and range across Texas, in part because hunters are introducing them into new areas as year round game animals, say wildlife specialists. But in some areas of sheep and goat country, the feisty feral hogs have become serious problems as predators, second only to the coyote.

Kids Fair '90 Draws Hundreds

Mercy Auxilian Mary Bonkowski checks the weight of this youngster during Kids Fair '90 held at Mercy Hospital June 16. Over 400 children attended the event.

Anne Colby from the Mercy Hospital nursing staff explains the importance of regular brushing on behalf of local dentist Barry Fenn, D.D.S., during the Kids Fair. Children enjoyed practicing their techniques with the oversized toothbrush and dental model.

Smokey The Bear shakes the hand of this young man while explaining that preventing forest fires is very important. Children were reminded that you don't play with matches.

An officer from the Grayling City Police Department explains the features in the police car, while a delighted child tries out the siren.

Face and body painting was a favorite activity for children at Kids Fair '90. Here Auxilian Jean Riemer creates another design for "the other cheek" on this youngster.

Volunteers from the Crawford County Ambulance Corps assisted children on a tour of the ambulance, explaining the many important life saving features available.

Outdoor artists created a variety of paintings to take home with them during Kids Fair '90.

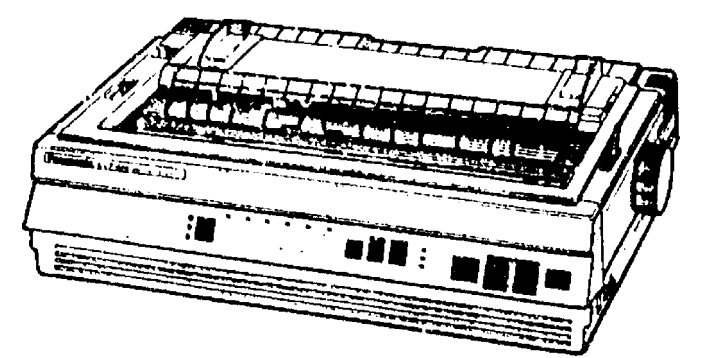

Scouts from Troop 944 of Roscommon took children on canoe rides while explaining the importance of water and canoe safety. Children learned that life vests weren't so bad after all.

While face and body painting were activities worth standing in line for, the hundreds of children who attended Mercy Hospital's Kids Fair '90 on June 16 learned about health and safety too. At registration children were given a Fair Map where they could select from a variety of activities, including health screenings.

Events ongoing throughout the afternoon included ambulance tours, poison prevention, canoe and water safety, bicycle obstacle course, vision screening, height, weight, and blood pressure screening, happy teeth, bicycle safety, fire prevention, and of course, Izzy the Clown.

Community groups assisting Mercy Hospital staff and Auxiliary with Kids Fair '90 included the Aid Association for Lutherans, American Cancer Society of Crawford County, American Red Cross, Crawford County Ambulance Service, Crawford County Sheriff's Association, Crawford/Roscommon Child Protection Council, Grayling City Police Department, Grayling City/Township Fire Department, Kiwanis Club of Grayling, Knights of Columbus of Grayling, Lions Club of Grayling, William Dean, O.D., Michigan Department of Natural Resources, National Guard E.O.D. Bomb Squad, March of Dimes, River House Shelter, and Scout Troop 944 of Roscommon.

Doodles from the Tall Timber

By Wendall L. Hoover

A number of years back (more than I like to think about), I worked with an old time shanty boy who spoke often about life in the camps he had worked in. One of his stories regarded the lack of facilities for taking baths and the lack of a desire on the part of some of the men to take baths.

Fred told of one man who started in September dressed in typical fashion with two pairs of socks, his wool longjohns, a pair of wool trousers, and two heavy shirts. When he got to Alpena in April he removed three pairs of trousers, and six shirts, but still had on the same wool underwear. Taking a bath in a logging camp was not easy, in light of the fact there wasn't any indoor facility for doing so, and the possibility of coming down with the "galloping consumption" (pneumonia, in other words) was very real.

Taking a bath today is in no way as difficult as it was for our forefathers and it has been recognized as one way to stay healthy. In nature, insects, birds, and animals also take baths or have some means of grooming themselves. Next week I will delve into some of those means and you may be just as surprised as I was.

A Look At Our Past

23 Years Ago June 29, 1967

On Friday, June 23, the Crawford - AuSable Summer Day Camp held a "Rodeo Day" at Bear Mountain. The Circle D Riding Stables were the gracious hosts to 162 youngsters from the summer camp program. Arrangements for the special events were made by Camp Director Fraser Dean.

With the opening of the new summer program of the Crawford AuSable Schools, the tennis courts at the elementary school are really getting a workout. Two classes meet each morning for a total of three hours of tennis instruction. Under the capable leadership and teaching of LeRoy Christian, students are carefully taught the basic fundamentals of tennis play.

The City of Grayling was commended for its progress in seeking an answer to pollution of the AuSable River at a meeting here June 17 of the AuSable River System Property Owners Association.

City Manager Harold Cliff told members of the association, meeting in the Grayling Bowhunters clubhouse, experiments with secondary chemical treatment of the effluent at the municipal sewage plant show 80 per cent of the nutrients, primarily phosphates, can be removed from the effluent.

Dr. Ralph Hoffman and sons Mike and John, Larry McNamara and sons Mike and P.J. and Ross Thompson and sons Joe and Jon all attended Cap Day Tiger baseball on Sunday, father's day, the boys each bringing home a Tiger baseball cap.

46 Years Ago June 1944

Wilbur A. Wiseman, former resident of Grayling, has enlisted in the Merchant Marines. He left to take up his new duties several weeks ago. Bud, as he is better known to his friends here, has for the past three years sailed on the Great Lakes as an employee of the Pittsburgh Steamship Co., Cleveland, Ohio. At the time of his enlistment he was serving as a watchman on the Steamer "Calcite" owned and operated by the Bradley Transportation Co. of Rogers City, Mich. Bud has been chosen to attend an officers training school in the near future. At present he is on sea duty, berthed as a wheelsman. He writes that he likes his work and a wonderful ship. Bud is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Jenson Ziebell of Grayling, with whom he had made his home since he was four years old. Mrs. Wiseman and daughter Patsy are making their home with her parents in Kalkaska during Wilbur's absence.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pond, a daughter. She will be named Cheryl Vivian. Michigan Conservation.

Returning from a series of stream measurements in Cheboygan County, we saw an elk on the US-27 right of way, just south of the electric traffic recorder about five miles north of Vanderbilt. From a distance the animal appeared to be a mule or a small horse, but on closer approach its identity was clearly recognizable. The dam at the outlet of Lake Margrethe is being utilized as a veritable incubator by large turtles. The earthfill is pock-marked with opened nest holes, and the appreciation of this concentration is attested by signs of foxes, coons or other animals having dug out and eaten the contents of numerous nests. Investigation of a new nest revealed 17 eggs, spherical and about an inch in diameter. Warden and Sara Smith have undertaken the job of hatching them in a warm sandbank behind the Smith cottage. Visitors to the dam are asked to refrain from molesting the control planks. These are regulated by the Geological Survey Division or by Mr. Hans Peterson, Grayling Hatchery Superintendent, to maintain a constant lake level. Experiences of the past three years have shown that the lake may be kept within a two-inch range of vertical level, which makes Lake Margrethe one of the most stable in the state. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Bancroft, a daughter, June 15. Elaine Carol is her name. Mark Francis is the son born to Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Sheehy at Mercy Hospital Tuesday morning. He weighed exactly 9 pounds, 1 1/2 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Post of Frederic have received word that their son, S. Sgt. Morden A. Post, is recovering from a gunshot wound in his left arm, received while in combat with the enemy in the Southwest Pacific battle area.

Cpt. Norman Feldhauser and sister, Lieut. Louise Feldhauser, arrived from Camp McCoy. Cpt. Feldhauser returned after a day's visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Feldhauser, but Lieut. Louise is remaining for a seven-day furlough.

On Sunday, June 11, while in Jacksonville, Fla., Keith Goward met Kenneth Van Camp, a Grayling boy, whom he had not seen for four years. Kenneth was in combat for two years, has several wounds, and is now stationed at Jacksonville. Keith is the husband of former Leona Deckrow.

Parents and friends of James Francis Wakeley received letters from him this week. He is in a hospital somewhere in England, with measles. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Wakeley.

A recent graduate of the Kingman Army Air Field Flexible Gunnery School situated a few miles outside of Kingman, Ariz., was 24-year-old Herbert H. Feldhauser, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Feldhauser of Grayling.

Mrs. Holger F. Peterson was pleasantly surprised last Thursday by a visit from her son, Captain John H. Peterson. John was able to spend two days at home during a trip back from the China-Burma-India theater, where he is on the staff of Brig. Gen. K.B. Wolfe, Commanding General of the 20th Bomber Command.

Mrs. Fred Niederer returned the last of the week from Lansing, where she visited her sister, Mrs. Dan Bradow, and family for several days. She went to attend Commencement exercises of the Sexton High School, where her nephew, Robert Bradow, graduated with honors in a class of 267. Mrs. Niederer reports that Forrest Bradow is serving in England, also that Mrs. Richard Southwell (Audrey Bradow) became parents of a daughter, Linda Jean, born on May 27. The Bradows were former well-known Grayling residents.

Word has been received from Edward Martin, E. M. 3/c that he is now in France; he is with the SeaBees.

Verse or Worse

By Joe Murphy

JUST ANOTHER LONELY DAY

The old man had got up early
So he could get all his chores out of the way
For he looked forward to all the calls he'd get Because this was Father's Day

He lived such a lonely life
Now that Molly had passed away
He was anxious for that phone to get to ringing
As the kids called to wish him a happy Father's Day

But the hours slowly slipped away
As he waited there by that silent phone
His eyes were kind of misty
As he sat there quiet and alone

His Molly had died last November
He'd lived a sad, lonely life since then
All the kids had come home for the funeral
He didn't know when they'd come again

Could it be they had all forgotten him
That none of them could call
He got up again to check the phone
That just hung there silent on the wall

The old man's heart was breaking
On this just another lonely day
When he heard the sound of slamming doors
And children's laughter from his drive way

The house was soon filled with laughing people
Who were wishing him a happy Father's Day
All his children and their children
And son Bill and his family had come to stay

Animal Care Tip

The Humane Society of the United States provides these suggestions for ways people can contribute directly and indirectly to solving the pet overpopulation problem:

- 1) Have your pet spayed or neutered.
- 2) Don't buy dogs and cats from pet stores. Rather, buy from a reputable breeder or adopt from a shelter.
- 3) Buy your pet care products from pet stores that don't sell puppies and kittens.

Guidelines For Milltown Festival Pet Show

The Milltown Festival Pet Show promises to be a fun event both for the participant and the spectator. If you are interested in entering your pet, or know of someone who might be interested, the following clip-out guidelines are for you. Have fun with it - we hope to see all of you on Saturday, July 28, at 1 p.m.

Pet Show Guidelines and Suggestions

1. Your pet's shots should be up to date.
2. All kinds of animals are welcome.
3. Pets must be on a leash or contained as a safety precaution.
4. Pets and owners must dress in costume representing the country the pet's breed originated from. If you are unsure of your pet's origins be creative! How about coming as an immigrant, or pioneers, or Indians? The possibilities are endless.
5. Do not come more than a half hour before judging so your animal won't get too tired or hot. Never leave your pet unattended in the car.
6. All pets entering the contest are welcome to be the honored guests of Twin Maples Kennels to walk in the parade later in the day (parade begins at 3:00 p.m.).
7. Judging will begin promptly at 1 p.m.
8. Prizes will be awarded at time of judging.

Judging will be based on the following categories:

1. Funniest.
2. Look alikes (pet and owner matching dress).
3. Most authentic costume.
4. Most original costume.

No pre-registration is necessary. If you have any questions, please call Linda Sprague at 348-7209. The Grayling Uptown District Association is sponsoring the pet show and other fun entertainment for Milltown Festival. Be watching your Avalanche for further information.

The Bible Speaks

I John 2:20-25 Part #9

Doctrines of antichrists

True Christians can know true doctrine by the work of the Holy Spirit and the Holy Scriptures. "But ye have an anction from the Holy One, and ye know all things." (I John 2:20). This was the promise of Jesus Christ, "But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you." (John 14:26). "Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth..." (John 16:13a).

The Holy Scripture written by John was to be added to the truth of Holy Scriptures already possessed by believers. "I have not written unto you because ye know not the truth, but because ye know it, and that no lie is of the truth." (I John 2:21). As Jesus had prayed to the Father, "Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth." (John 17:17).

It is this knowledge and love for the truth which enables Christians in the last days to avoid deception by antichrists. "Even him, whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and signs and lying wonders, and with all deceivableness of unrighteousness in them that perish; because they received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved. And for this cause God shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie: That they all might be damned who believed not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness." (2 Thes. 2:9-12). (Underlining added for emphasis).

The greatest mark of an antichrist is the denial of the doctrine of the deity of our Lord Jesus Christ. "Who is a liar but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ? He is antichrist, that denieth the Father and the Son." (I John 2:22). "And every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is not of God: and this is that the spirit of antichrist, whereof ye have heard that it should come; and even now already is it in the world." (I John 4:3). Antichrists deny the doctrine of the trinity. Antichrists deny that Jesus Christ was God manifest in the flesh. (I Tim. 3:16). They make an artificial division between Jesus the man and Christ the divine God.

"For many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist." (2 John 7). Such people are unsaved. "Whosoever denieth the Son, the same hath not the Father: but he that acknowledgeth the Son hath the Father also." (I John 2:23).

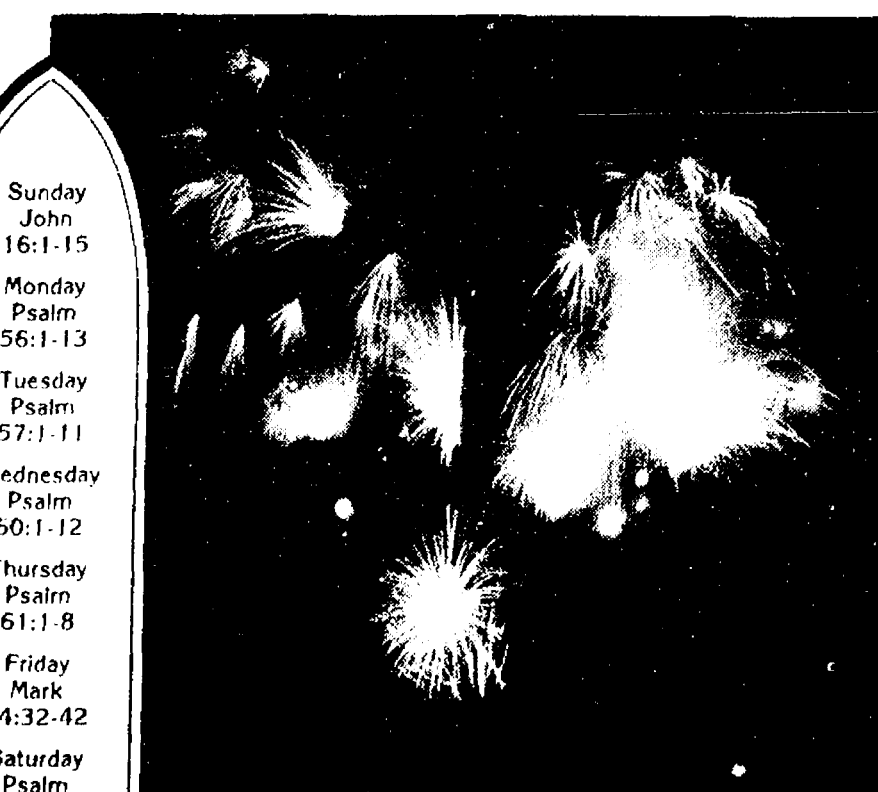

To avoid antichrists, let the Holy Spirit and the Holy Scriptures "abide in you" and you can continue to claim God's promise of eternal life. (I John 2:24, 25).

CHURCH DIRECTORY

"Oh Say... Can You See"

Festooning fire fingers streak down the sky while soft July breezes stir across upturned faces and the band plays softly.

Suddenly I see beyond the framework of our celebration, I see fireworks and flags, hard-boiled eggs and potato salad, a parade down Main Street, cotton candy, roller coasters, and the dance at the country club. I see a little band of people crossing the ocean to make a new life. A woodsman hacking a trail westward, a man and woman working together to make a home in the wilderness. I see rows of graves in France, marking fallen doughboys, four young men raising a flag on Iwo Jima, and a group of astronauts blasting off to yet a new frontier. I see a sweet land of liberty.

One of the most important things this land stands for is a person's right to worship God in the way he or she wants. Attend your church or synagogue and take advantage of this precious heritage.

WHY YOU MAY NEED AN APPRAISAL AND AN APPRAISER

1. As a result of fires, vandalism or other casualties, the loss you have may be deductible on your federal income tax return. You can deduct the part of the loss not covered by insurance reimbursement. To take a deduction for a casualty or theft loss, you must be able to support the amount you take as a deduction.

*To determine your deduction for a casualty loss, you must first figure your loss, and then figure any limits on the amount of loss you may deduct. The difference between the fair market value of the personal property immediately before a casualty and immediately afterwards should be determined by a competent appraiser.

*The appraiser should be reliable and experienced. Several factors are important in evaluating the accuracy of an appraisal:

- The appraiser's method of appraisal.
- The appraiser's knowledge of conditions in the area of the casualty.

BUDDY'S WORKSHOP

Some Retaining Screws Are Concealed

I have an old toaster that's not working and I thought I'd take it apart and see if I could fix it. Would you believe that I cannot get the thing apart—even after removing all the screws from the bottom. I know there's something holding it together, but I cannot figure out what or how to get to it. Some retaining screws are ingeniously concealed and it takes a little bit of detective work to discover them. If there is a manufacturer's nameplate on the toaster, pry it off and see if there is one more screw under it. I'd bet there is. Remove it and the toaster housing should come free. On this same subject, screws are sometimes hidden with invisible plugs, particularly on plastic appliances. A hand held hair dryer is a good example. The plug must be pried out to reveal the screw beneath it. Other appliances may have screws located under cork or felt pads on the bottom.

Michigan Canoe Event Brings New Models To Hanson Hills

Find out about canoeing at the Michigan Canoe Event set for Saturday, June 30, 1990, 1-5 p.m., at Hanson Hills Recreational Area. From an interested water sport newcomer to canoe enthusiast, there promises to be something for everyone at this free, hands-on event.

More than 20 different canoe models will be available for demonstrating and free "test drives" for anyone who wishes to try out a canoe. Presented by Cartwright and Danewell, and co-sponsored by the Grayling Recreational Authority, this on-the-water clinic is an excellent opportunity to experience canoes designed for general recreation, cruising, whitewater, and fishing.

At The Michigan Canoe Event, you will feel the difference in canoe handling characteristics and learn about the high tech materials and designs that comprise today's scientifically advanced canoes.

"Improvements in canoe construction and design in just the last ten years make the current line of canoes a totally new experience from those in the past," reports The Michigan Canoe Event team member Brad Howarth. "Anyone who has paddled an old aluminum or fiberglass canoe will certainly appreciate the benefits. Today's canoes are much lighter, more stable, quieter, and tougher."

For most people, flat water and smaller streams are where canoeing has its greatest appeal. "Almost everyone has convenient access to waterways," comments Michael Searles of Cartwright and Danewell. "Even in large metropolitan areas, there are usually several good rivers and other bodies of water nearby. Just put it on top of the car and go. You don't need to worry about finding a boat launch, buying gasoline, or towing a trailer."

The Michigan Canoe Event will include topics on water safety and how to paddle a canoe, plus demonstrations of the versatility of the canoe, including poling and sailing a canoe. Come catch the canoeing spirit by planning to attend this special event.

For further information about The Michigan Canoe Event, contact Michael Searles of Cartwright and Danewell at 348-7903.

Master Illusionist Performing At 1990 Milltown Festival

Steve Holt, one of America's premier touring illusionists and ventriloquists will be performing Saturday, July 28, during Milltown Festival. Steve Holt believes in the miracles of magic and the promotion of family fun and togetherness especially today as he keeps the Spirit of America alive in his stage production. During his earlier years as a young boy residing in an orphanage, Holt learned some important philosophies of gentlemanly life and now at age thirty he is preserving some of those educational and social techniques and communicating them in segments of his Miracles of Magic Show. Holt's performances are sponsored by the Grayling Uptown District Association.

Holt sets audiences at ease as he mixes comedy with music, magic and illusions from the past. In growth with the 1990's, many of the larger stage illusions such as the Tube of Death, the 1800's Broom Suspension, and the recreated Houdini Metamorphosis Trunk, are fascinating in detail and make for tremendous attractions for today's audiences. For the audience wishing to see more than a suitcase Magic Show, one must attend prepared to see Holt's special brand of magic complete with theatrical skill. Each act is presented with versatility, dexterity, originality, creativity, a climatic finish and most are sure to be entertained by things never seen before on the legitimate stage. The show provides the public with a unique appreciation of the art of magic.

A show of this kind receives aid from assistants for which Holt greatly depends upon to make for a successful event. The act features Rickey McClain, a very popular dummy or puppet. Sherri, his wife, takes care of setting props and is pierced by blades, spikes, and is even levitated! Holt will be performing several times Saturday, July 28, at Grayling's Milltown Festival. Michigan Avenue will be closed to traffic from Mac's Drugs to Chief Shoppenagon's Motor Lodge all day Saturday.
